

What brings a mobile home with a guitarist and a bagpipe player? How is it possible that a double bass player unexpectedly approaches a campfire and never leaves? What moved a certain violinist to abandon his bagpipe?

Paracetamol plays balfolk music with a bittersweet edge. Moving mazurkas, rolling gavottes, driving bourrées but also a rare grabbelton and the first new bravade since 1657.

Echoes of Irish jigs, metal classics, Hungarian folk and jazz loops resound in their dance music from previous musical lives. They travel from dark cafés, along dance floors to festivals such as Castlefest, CaDansa and Le Son Continu.

Besides playing balls, in 2019 Paracetamol made a concert tour along picturesque chapels and churches in the North of the Netherlands. In October 2022 they released the album Endorfine with original compositions.

Nico Beltman

Jan Willem Veenhuis

Gyöngyi Kovács

Rob Zantkuijl

Violin, flutes, bagpipe

Guitars, percussion

Double bass, voice

Bagpipes, saxophone, flutes

Contact:

info@paracetamolfolk.nl

+31 (0)6 24886814

Info:

www.paracetamolfolk.nl

www.facebook.com/paracetamolfolk

www.instagram.com/paracetamolfolk

www.youtube.com/@paracetamolfolk